Reflection for Sixth Sunday of Easter: Year B
Sixth Sunday of Easter – May 5, 2024
Fr. Stephen Yusko

Readings: Acts 10:25–26, 34–35, 44–48 • Ps 98:1, 2–3, 3–4 • 1 Jn 4:7–10 • Jn 15:9–17 bible.usccb.org/bible/readings/050524.cfm

“This is my commandment, that you love one another . . .” In our readings on this Sixth Sunday of Easter, we hear much about Our Lord’s commandment to love. Yet this seems a strange thing to modern ears: a commandment to love. For many in our society today believe that love is simply a feeling, an inclination caused in us by encountering someone or even something outside of us. And so, some may ask, “How can we be commanded to love?” More than this, though, even if we can will ourselves to love, what kind of love is Jesus commanding us to give?

Are we to love one another as one may love their favorite movie, or their favorite sport or their favorite drink? I think we all would agree that Jesus is not commanding us to love one another as one might love The Lord of the Rings, or the New York Yankees, or a smooth glass of Macallan. We love these things for the pleasure they give to us, not for the good we wish to give to them. We do not love them for their own sake, as if they were ourselves.

Okay, are we to love one another as we may love our pets? Though one may and likely should love his pet more than he loves that smooth glass of scotch, it would be wrong and disordered if he were to love it more than other people, especially his wife or his kids. Pets are not persons, and they are certainly not our children — even if our children sometimes act like our pets — and so, we ought not treat them as such. Consequently, Jesus is not commanding us to love one another as we love our pets, as this kind of love falls far short of the mark.

What about the love that we have for ourselves? Are we to love one another with this love? Given that Scripture gives this to us as the second greatest commandment, this must be our answer, and yet, many of us know that it is tragically possible for a person to hate his or herself. Consequently, there must be an even greater love than the love of self to which Jesus is calling us to love one another. What is this form of love?

Well, let’s listen to Jesus: “love one another as I have loved you.” Yes! We are to love one another with the same love with which Jesus loved us, and with which the Father loved Him. In other words, we are to love with the love of God. A love that is unselfish; a love that is disinterested; a love that looks outward toward the other; a love that understands that the person before you is made in the image and likeness of God, and so, should be loved, not used; cherished, not discarded; a love that asks what good can I give, rather than what good can I get. Every human being desires to be loved, yet every human being also desires to love. To pour oneself out for the other without counting the cost; to lose oneself in loving so as to find themselves in love, even to the point of loving to its most eminent degree — to lay down one’s life for one’s friends.

We are to love one another with the love of God, then. A love that is supernatural, and that loves not only friends, but also those who have the potential of becoming our friends, that is, we are to love even our enemies. As Jesus said, “Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you” (Mt 5:44).

We have seen that we are to love one another with the love of God; however, our original question lingers: How can we be commanded to love? More specifically, how can we be commanded to love with a love that exceeds our natural capacities? Pope Benedict XVI helps us to answer this question when he states in his encyclical Deus Caritas Est that we can be commanded to love with God’s own love because it has first been given to us. As St. John tells us in our second reading: “In this is love, not that we have loved God but that He loved us and sent His Son to be the expiation for our sins.”

You see, love is not merely a feeling, but is in the will. As such, no matter the situation or our emotional response to it, we can always will to love. As St. John of the Cross said, “Where there is no love, put love, and you will find love.” More than this, though, as Christians, who have had the love of God “poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit who has been given to us” (Rom 5:5), we are now enabled by God’s grace to love as God loves, and thus, to fulfill the commandment of the New and Eternal Covenant, to “love one another, as I have loved you.” Such was the experience of St. Maximilian Kolbe, St. Mother Teresa, Ven. Francis Xavier Nguyen Van Thuan, and the countless other witnesses of God’s love, and such can be your experience if you but ask for it and carry it out in your own lives.

Saint of the week

St. Cyril of Jerusalem was a bishop in the fourth century. His teachings on the Eucharist, among other topics, secured his place as a Doctor of the Church. Though his ministry was marked by estrangement, exile, and ultimately, reconciliation, he never lost his faith!

Prayer of Love

God the Father,
You created me in love.
Jesus, your love for me compelled you to come to earth to die for me.
Holy Spirit, love between God and Jesus, now you surround me with the love of the Father and the Son.
Help me to live out this reality, today and always.
Amen.

(PRACTICING) CATHOLIC

As I Love You

This week my children were learning about energy. We set up an experiment with toy cars — one was placed in front of another, and a third was pushed into the two stationary ones.

The forward motion caused the front car to move, but not much. "Most of the energy goes into the car in the middle, not the car on the end," my daughter concluded.

I asked her why she seems to have so much energy, and I seem to have so little.

"Because you're old," she replied confidently.

Most days I feel like that first car, barreling at life with all my energy and love and good intentions, only to have it almost entirely absorbed by the proverbial middle car. It's so easy to be discouraged. The devil so badly wants us to feel discouraged.

But the law of love is not unlike the law of conservation of energy. Love is neither created nor destroyed. It is only transferred from one form to another. And yes, sometimes it certainly seems like it disappears. It appears to get lost between my hands and the plate of dinner that goes uneaten or evaporates off of my lips as words I fear are never heard. It is spat upon as a commandment the world would prefer I do not keep.

But we are not called to simply love one another — to love when it seems effective and productive and appreciated. We are called to love as Christ loved: recklessly, selflessly, and yes, even without logic. We are called to love with a love that doesn't give up and is never withdrawn. A love that doesn't fear death or the world's hatred. A love that stands willing to argue, to be reviled, to be dismissed.

We are called to be that first car, hurtling ourselves against a world that isn't ready to accept or understand us. And we trust that, even when we can't see how, the love that seems to disappear simply changes forms.

*"This is my commandment: love one another as I love you."
— John 15:12*

- Colleen Jurkiewicz Dorman

Why do we do that? Catholic Life Explained

Question:

My neighbor is just beginning to explore the Catholic faith but was raised agnostic. I grew up believing in God, praying, and attending Mass. How does one start from scratch as an adult to develop a relationship with God?

Answer:

Start on a personal level! How did you and your neighbor become friends? How did you begin to discuss such a personal topic as faith? Communication, spending time together, and getting to know each other are essential to forming the bonds of a relationship. Personal prayer is essential to our relationship with God. We can't be close to someone we don't know! Invite your friend to explore the stories of Jesus in the Bible. Introduce them to the lives of the saints, especially ones you think they might be interested in.

Your neighbor might also have questions about the Catholic faith that you don't know how to answer. If your friend hasn't yet enrolled in RCIA classes, invite them to Mass at your parish. Introduce your friend to the faith formation director to make a connection. Personal support can be helpful as well, especially if few of your neighbor's current friends are practicing their faith. Connect your neighbor to other people in your parish living their faith well. The good examples of other faithful people could help your neighbor to feel welcomed and supported. Our Church is vibrant and alive!

Prayers for Ernesto Balderrama, Jr

We, the Balderrama family, (Ernesto, Sonia and children), would like to ask for your prayers for our son, Ernesto Balderrama, Jr...aka - Junior, 17 yrs. old. He has grown up in St. Mary. He received all his Sacraments of Initiation here. He was an altar server since 2015. He was a member of the CERS group since 2021 and more recently, was helping his sister, Mariela, with the Wednesday evening Youth Bible study group. He graduated from Lee Williams HS in May 2023 and has decided to dedicate some time to strengthen and learn more about his faith. He left on August 4, 2023, to join Christ of the Desert House of Formation, in Palmdale, CA. He will be on his formation journey for nine months, with other young adults, all of whom have chosen to live by the virtues of obedience, poverty, and chastity.

After the formation period, he will discern if he would like to make his promise to become a Missionary Servant of the Word for one year, serving in whatever mission he is sent to here in the United States. We ask for prayers from our St. Mary community to help Junior stay strong and not feel lonely, as this is the first time he will be away from his family and community for so long. Prayers to help him stay focused during this formation period and guard against all temptation, not only for him, but for all the young people who are on the same journey as him, sacrificing a part of their young lives to follow Jesus. They have chosen to leave the many temptations of the secular world and follow Jesus out into the desert to pray and meditate on what God is calling them to do. Pray and make sacrifices as well for more teenagers and young adults to open their hearts and hear and answer God's calling. We are responsible for faith formation of the youth of our Church. Let us not abandon them in their time of spiritual needs. There is a spiritual warfare going on now and let us not lose our children to it.

Thank you so much and may God bless you all and guard you from all evil.
