Weekly Scripture

Virtues, Explained!

Magnanimity, writes St. Thomas Aquinas, describes “the stretching forth of the mind to great things.” (Sum. II-II, 129, Art. 1) This virtue protects souls from the temptation to do honorable things for intentions that fall short of honorability.

Magnanimity shares much with the virtue of humility, but unlike humility, it specifically seeks what is great — but never the distinction of being called great. A magnanimous person’s focus is solely on accomplishing as much good as possible, as effectively as possible.

When Joseph learned that Mary, his betrothed, was with child through the Holy Spirit, he had a chance to distinguish himself as a virtuous man. In calling for Mary’s punishment, he could have condemned immorality loudly and publicly, while distancing himself from what appeared to be sin.

Instead, he did the opposite. He did what he knew to be right. He exhibited magnanimity, and the world was never the same.

Sunday’s Readings

First Reading

What more was there to do for my vineyard
that I had not done?

Why, when I looked for the crop of grapes,
did it bring forth wild grapes? (Is 5:4)

Psalms

The vineyard of the Lord is the house of Israel.
(Is 5:7a)

Second Reading

Keep on doing what you have learned and received and heard and seen in me.

Then the God of peace will be with you. (Phil 4:9)

Gospel

“What will the owner of the vineyard do to those tenants when he comes?”

They answered him,

“He will put those wretched men to a wretched
death

and lease his vineyard to other tenants.”

(Mt 21:41)

Inspiration of the Week

Some build their lives on a foundation of wealth, some on a foundation of power.
What do we choose for our cornerstone?
What supports the weight of our souls? For the Christian life, there is only one foundation strong enough to hold. Choose wisely.

Saint of the Week

St. Bruno of Cologne

Pray for us!

St. Bruno of Cologne (c. 1030–October 6, 1101), also called St. Bruno the Carthusian, founded the Carthusian order. Educated in Reims and ordained in Cologne in 1055, he returned to Reims in 1057 to lead its school for nearly 20 years. Named chancellor of the Church of Reims in 1075, he soon left in protest of Bishop Manasses de Gournai's conduct and declined to replace him, choosing solitude and prayer instead. In 1084, Bruno, Hugh, and five companions settled at Chartreuse and founded the Carthusians.

His first years of monastic life were brief: Urban II, his former student, called him to help oppose the antipope Guibert of Ravenna and Emperor Henry IV. Bruno later declined the bishopric of Calabria and was eventually allowed to return to monastic life.

He died on October 6, 1101, and was beatified by Pope Leo X in 1514. He is the patron saint of exorcists, people possessed by demons, and trademarks.

(PRACTICING) CATHOLIC

In this Sunday's Gospel reading, Jesus tells the Parable of the Tenants and reveals himself as the "cornerstone the builders rejected."

Hoarding the Harvest

I've always thought the Parable of the Tenants could be a storyline on one of those "world's dumbest criminals" shows.

Serial murder seems like an absolutely insane course of action simply to hoard the profits of a harvest you don't legally own. In what world did the tenants think they would get away with that? Furthermore, they must have had a contract with their landowner ensuring payment for their labor. Why, all of a sudden, is this payment not enough?

It's easy to dismiss the tenants as paranoid. Selfish. Greedy.

But then I think of my soul — my own little vineyard. Who owns it? Who bought it at great cost?

You see, the Parable of the Tenants isn't a story about greed. It's a story about trust. The tenants don't trust the landowner to give them their payment, to honor his promises. They're scared. They're resentful. They're angry.

And I get it.

Around my vineyard, there is a hedge, a protective barrier of grace shielding the fruit within from the toxic fumes of a fallen world. There is a wine press, so that the harvest of my vineyard can fulfill its ultimate purpose instead of withering, forgotten, on the branch. And there is a tower, tall and sturdy, built by capable hands. From its summit, I can see predators — animals, thieves — a long time before they reach me.

But I can see something else from the tower, too. I can see the landowner's Son, making his way to the gates of my vineyard. He is coming to claim the harvest. He is coming to give me what is promised.

Do I trust him? Do I let him in?

St. Mary's Religious Education Visits First Responders

On Sunday, September 27th, St. Mary's Religious Education children, led by the Saints in the Making class, visited Kingman Fire Station 21 to deliver a care package from Operation Gratitude, along with appreciation cards made by the R.E. children.

The children and their families were then treated to a tour of the Fire Station.

A special thank you to Beth and the firefighters on duty (Cesar, Chad, and Odom) for taking the time to talk to our group and show us the station!

Thank you for your continued generosity!

St. Vincent de Paul

In addition to monetary donations, we rely on donated goods to provide a wide range of assistance to the needy in our community. A large portion of our revenue comes from donated furniture and appliances. Unfortunately our one driver is dealing with family obligations and is often unavailable to pick up those items. We have to refer donors to other agencies, causing our revenue to suffer.

We are asking all able-bodied men in the Parish to seriously consider volunteering even one day a week to help alleviate this situation.

You will be joining a great team of dedicated volunteers!

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Annual Fall Festival – Sunday, September 27th

Fall Festival went well and it was very fun! KoC prepared very well, also all the different ministries were amazing! We're very blessed by everyone!

So many parishioners were there and enjoyed foods, games, and music.

Especially, we all enjoyed dunking Fr. Chris 😊

He was very good about it, but remember he said he'll get even with you 😊

Welcome to St. Mary's!

Sharing the Gospel

You are God's child. He made you and he loves you. Make sure you act like God's child. He created a beautiful world for you to live in. God expects you to take care of it. God also created people to live around you. Love them. Then you will make God happy.

Now color the picture!

Prayer

Dear God, help me to take care of your world and love the people around me.

Mission for the Week

Recycle paper, plastic and glass at home, instead of throwing it away. Recycling is a great way to take care of God's world.
